2017 A YEAR IN REVIEW

I'm pleased to present the second annual edition of the UN Kosovo Team results. In this report you will find data and results from our joint programming and advocacy activities in support of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) during the second year of implementation of our UN Common Development Plan. This year's report provides concrete evidence of UN contributions for improving governance and rule of law, promoting social inclusion, and improving health, including reducing environmental impacts on health.

You will also see how we incorporate the SDGs - and, in particular, SDG 5, Gender Equality - into all of our work. I'm grateful to all of our local partners for leading the way, to our international partners for their solidarity and support, and, finally, to the UN Kosovo Team members for their continued commitment to Delivering as One.

THE 2030 AGENDA FOR SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

THE GLOBAL GOALS
For Sustainable Development

THE SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS: LEAVING NO ONE BEHIND

In 2015, world leaders adopted the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, promising to eliminate extreme poverty, reduce inequality and create a greener planet. With its pledge to leave no one behind, the 2030 Agenda is our boldest agenda for humanity.

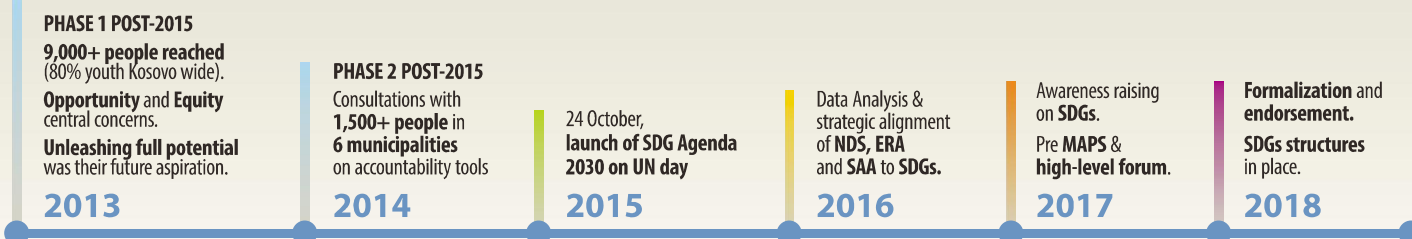

The Agenda encompasses 17 Sustainable Development Global Goals (SDGs). They are interconnected, universal, inclusive and indivisible and they promote human rights and economic, social and environmental sustainability.

THE SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS IN KOSOVO¹

Kosovo is committed to the SDGs and has contributed much to setting this new global agenda. Its commitment to the SDGs began with extensive public consultations conducted with the support of the United Nations from 2012 to 2015, continued with an ambitious plan for the integration and implementation of the global goals, in line with the "National Development Strategy 2016- 2021", the "European Reform Agenda" and the "Stabilization and Association Agreement", and it culminated in January 2018, with the formal endorsement by the parliament of Kosovo of a Resolution on the SDGs: a strong commitment to use the SDGs and their development framework to improve people's lives.

With the endorsing of the Resolution on SDGs, Kosovo continues to integrate the goals in its strategic planning process to reach the preconditions of membership in European Union.

THE UNITED NATIONS COMMON DEVELOPMENT PLAN 2016 - 2020

THE UNITED NATIONS KOSOVO TEAM

The United Nations Kosovo Team (UNKT) is composed of 19 United Nations Agencies, Funds and Programmes active in Kosovo, including FAO, ILO, IOM, OHCHR, UN Women, UNDP, UNDSS, UNEP, UNESCO, UNFPA, UNHABITAT, UNHCR, UNICEF, UNODC, UNOPS, UNV, WHO and the two international financial institutions, the IMF and the World Bank.

The UNKT is firmly committed to supporting Kosovo institutions to identify and achieve their development aspirations and goals.

The UNKT is chaired by the United Nations Development Coordinator (UNDC), who supports and facilitates the dialogue and coordination of the UN agencies, funds and programmes (its members) in order to ensure collaboration in a concerted and harmonized manner, with a view to improve the overall effectiveness and efficiency of their interventions in Kosovo.

THE UN COMMON DEVELOPMENT PLAN

In the second “United Nations Common Development Plan 2016–2020” (UNCDP), the UNKT has developed a five-year programmatic framework that lays out shared strategic priorities as a contribution to address Kosovo's complex development challenges.

1. GOVERNANCE AND RULE OF LAW

2. SOCIAL INCLUSION

3. ENVIRONMENT AND HEALTH

During 2017 - the second year of implementation of the UNCDP - the UNKT has helped achieve relevant results in each area.

UNCDP PRIORITY AREA 1: GOOD GOVERNANCE AND RULE OF LAW

DEVELOPMENT CHANGES TO BE ACHIEVED BY 2020

Rule of law system and institutions are accessible to all and perform in a more efficient and effective way.

Civil society participates more effectively in the design of rule of law reforms and in holding relevant institutions accountable for their implementation.

The authorities of Kosovo manage mixed migrations flows more effectively and in line with international standards.

During 2017, UNDP and UNICEF provided support to: improve access to justice, coordination among Rule of Law institutions and reduce court backlog.

ADDRESSING AND PREVENTING GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE (GBV)

Although Kosovo's legal framework calls for full equality for men and women, discrimination against women continues, resulting in inadequate protection of several basic human rights guaranteed by law.

A major landmark in 2017 was the decision by the Ministry of Finance to allocate 1 million euros in the 2018 Kosovo budget for reparations for conflict-related sexual violence survivors. Since 2006, UN Women has been working with civil society organizations and authorities to get legal recognition and redress for conflict-related sexual violence survivors (CRSV) in Kosovo.

In 2017, UNDP, UNFPA, UNHCR, and UNWOMEN have supported central and local institutions to strengthen their capacities to deal with victims of gender-based and domestic violence.

2017 RESULTS

- Commission for the Verification of the Status of Victims of Sexual Violence is established, following two years of intensive technical assistance and training from UN Women.
- 7 multi-sectorial domestic violence Coordination Mechanisms are fully functional & provide response to survivors and their children.

9 new additional GBV cases were reported to be identified, treated and referred by Health facilities in Northern and Southern Kosovo.

On the occasion of the 16 Days Against Violence Against Women Campaign, the UN Agencies, led by UN Women, in partnership with the Kosovo Women's Network, Care International, the Women's Centre for Human Rights, the Assembly of Kosovo, and international organizations and missions, - including OSCE, UNMIK, KFOR and EULEX, - joined forces with Kosovo society in raising awareness of the need to eliminate all forms of violence against women through over 75 separate advocacy activities taking place during the 16 days.

Among all events organised, the highlight was the ballet "One Day", performed by the Kosovo Theatre Ballet: a deeply personal story and a message of hope based on the experiences of a Kosovar survivor of domestic violence.

GOOD GOVERNANCE AND RULE OF LAW

Public institutions have a duty to conduct public affairs, manage public resources and guarantee the realization of human rights in a manner essentially free of abuse and corruption.

In 2017, UNDP supported Kosovo anti-corruption institutions to better monitor, prevent and fight corruption at central and municipal level. It also helped Civil Society Organizations seek accountability on fight against corruption and on actively participating in the design of rule of law reforms, and in holding relevant institutions accountable for their implementation.

2017 RESULTS

- Kosovo Anti-Corruption Strategy 2018-2022, Draft Law on Conflict of Interests, Concept Paper on the Draft law on Asset and Income Disclosure, Draft Law on the Anti-Corruption Agency and Administrative Instruction on Monitoring of Public Procurement Activities developed.

MIXED MIGRATION FLOWS' MANAGEMENT

UNKT promotes and protects the rights of people fleeing violence and persecution; the right to voluntarily return to Kosovo in a dignified manner for those forcibly displaced by the conflict; and the right to access durable solutions for full inclusion into the Kosovo society for those still displaced.

During 2017, IOM, UNDP, UNFPA, UNICEF, UNHCR, and UNOPS have strengthened the capacity of central and local authorities to support the return process and the reintegration of repatriated persons. IOM and UNHCR have also assisted authorities in updating the government's Contingency Plan to monitor and manage mixed migration flows and in increasing skills and knowledge of government officials and border police on refugees/migration response.

She is learning about possible business opportunities and getting inspired by positive examples of working women. The returnee met also with an advisor of the Employment office who informed her about the procedures on registration for seeking job and on how to attend free courses to develop market skills.

UNCDP PRIORITY AREA 2: SOCIAL INCLUSION

DEVELOPMENT CHANGES TO BE ACHIEVED BY 2020

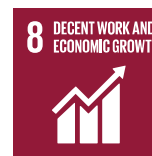

Education & employment policies and programmes enable greater access for decent employment opportunities among youth and women.

Women in Kosovo increasingly enjoy their economic rights.

Social protections policies and schemes enable greater benefits and access to social services to the most vulnerable groups.

ACCESS TO DECENT EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUTH AND WOMEN

Employment rate in Kosovo is the lowest in the region and far below the EU. The overall unemployment rate on the other hand is very high 27.5% (Source KAS 2017) with youth unemployment at 52.4% and a very low access to market by women: women unemployment rate is 31.8%. During 2017, ILO, UNDP, UNV, and UNWOMEN supported central and local authorities to enable greater access to decent employment opportunities for youth and women.

She got accepted to the programme in April 2017 and throughout a three months' time span, she received practical instructions in a hair salon, developing her skills in the beauty salon industry. After she completed the on-job training hours, the manager retained her.

“I think the on-job training program played a grave importance in my hiring” Zebushe said. “It gave my supervisor the chance to see that I am a voracious learner and I have the potential to complete tasks on my own”.

CREATING MUNICIPAL CHILD-FRIENDLY GOVERNANCE AND REDUCING SCHOOL DROPOUTS

In 2017 Kosovo invested 15.9% of its budget in education. Despite the level of investment, quality of education continues to be inadequate and is not tailored to current market demands. Existing data show relatively low levels of enrolment of children into early childhood education.

During 2017, UNICEF has strengthened the capacity of central and local authorities to mainstream an early warning system recording and managing out-of-school cases to increase enrolment and reduce drop-outs and it has promoted a human rights-based approach for children rights.

2017 RESULTS

- Early Warning system on school dropout integrated in Education Management Information System and Kosovo Employment System.
- Inclusive education teacher training programme, focusing on children with disabilities, accredited by the Ministry of Education and delivered in seven municipalities to 50 teachers.

UNICEF / A.Beqiri, 2017

SOCIAL PROTECTION SCHEMES AND ACCESS TO SOCIAL SERVICES

During 2017, UNICEF provided technical expertise and mobilized civil society, media and other stakeholders to advocate for improved social protection schemes and access to social services. This led to the decision taken by the government in December 2017 to increase by 20% the amount of the social assistance benefits (effective from January 2018).

UNICEF also supported the capacity development of municipal institutions on implementation of integrated prevention, protection and reintegrated services for children.

UNCDP PRIORITY AREA 3: ENVIRONMENT AND HEALTH

DEVELOPMENT CHANGES TO BE ACHIEVED BY 2020

UNKT supports Kosovo institutions to ensure the highest attainable level of health and dignity for all women, men, children, girls and boys. Even though 9% of central budget is allocated to the health sector, including primary health care, this allocation is considered to be insufficient to meet the multiple needs of health sector.

The authorities of Kosovo have enhanced mechanisms for evidence-based planning, implementation and monitoring of environmental impacts in health.

The authorities of Kosovo have improved coverage of quality and equitable essential health care services for Maternal, Neonatal, Child and Reproductive Health and Non-Communicable Diseases.

More people adopt behaviors that are healthy and that increase resilience to potential threats from environmental pollution, disasters and climate change.

HEALTH

During 2017, WHO has advocated for continuous quality improvement of health care services for everyone and has supported the on-going Health System reform. UNICEF, UNFPA and WHO have provided assistance to regional and local health authorities to strengthen primary and secondary healthcare level and continued raise awareness about sexual reproductive health and rights, sexually transmittable infections/HIV and family planning.

JOINT ADVOCACY

During 2017, the UN Agencies joined their voices to promote human rights and advocate for the creation of a more inclusive, sustainable future in Kosovo. Over the year, the UN Kosovo Team, with its partners (institutions, civil organizations, international organizations and private sector), has been exploring multiple avenues for tackling the most pressing issues hampering Kosovo social and economic development and for promoting and bring the SDGs to life.

THE JOURNALISM POVERTY PRIZE

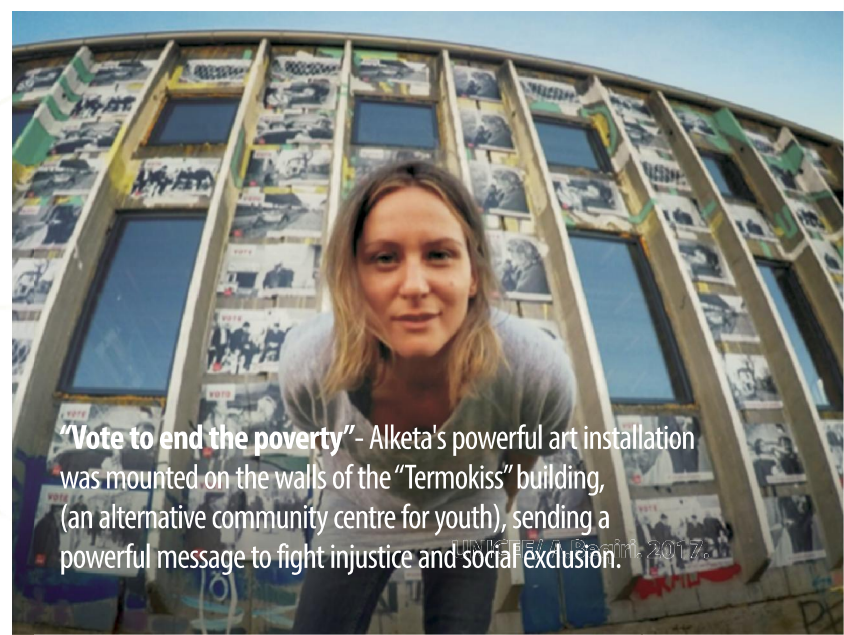

Poverty rates in Kosovo remain amongst the highest in the region. According to the Statistical Agency of Kosovo and the World Bank, the poverty rate was 17.6%, while the extreme poverty rate was 5.2%.

While many activities of the UN Agencies along with partners have contributed to reducing poverty, none have been as successful in terms of raising public awareness about the persistence of poverty and inclusion as the Journalism Poverty Prize. For the 12th year in a row, the UNKT and the Association of Journalists of Kosovo have provided professional journalists the opportunity to showcase their stories about the reality of poverty. The best examples (print and online news, video, radio, and photography), as selected by a professional jury, win the Prize.

The 2017 Poverty Prize's edition was boosted by the participation of the Kosovar, UK-based artist Alketa Xhafa-Mripa, who created a public installation of photographs portraying prize-winning stories of poverty and social exclusion in Kosovo.

The timing was powerful: Alketa was calling for Kosovars to vote to end poverty just as politicians were finishing a final week of campaigning prior to local elections.

"Vote to end the poverty" - Alketa's powerful art installation was mounted on the walls of the "Termokiss" building, (an alternative community centre for youth), sending a powerful message to fight injustice and social exclusion.

Being over 40% of the Kosovo population below 18 years, children and youth represent a key agent to peace, development and social change for the Kosovar society. Therefore, creating environments where young Kosovars can learn about the Global Goals was another priority for the UN Kosovo Team, since only the engagement and commitment of future generations will ensure long-term social change.

ADVOCACY FOR SOCIAL CHANGE: “Podium for the SDGs”

The Advocacy for Social Change initiative “Podium for the SDGs”, organized by the UNICEF Innovation Lab, UNV and the UN Development Coordinator’s Office, reached hundreds of young girls and boys from more than ten municipalities across Kosovo during its outreach phase. Out of the over 250 applications received, forty girls and boys of different ethnic background from ten municipalities were selected for the workshop phase and divided in ten groups, and attended workshops, where they learned to identify and link community needs to specific Global Goals, how to collaborate with peers, and how to advocate for their communities’ priorities. During the workshop, dedicated and professional mentors taught them advocacy techniques. As a result, participants designed different advocacy projects addressing SDGs-related issues. The six winning groups received financial support to implement their advocacy campaigns.

Among the winning projects, two have been notably successful in mobilizing communities and institutions by advocating for inclusion and equality:

PUNEJEMJA Organized by the team in Podujeva/Podujevo, the initiative promoted gender equality and equal employment opportunities for women in the job market. Learn more on Facebook following @punejemja.

Organized by the team Gjilan/ Gnjilane, the project advocated for the rights of people with impaired vision and helped the community raise funds to produce books in braille, thus supporting the right for an inclusive education and equal opportunities.

INTERNATIONAL

FESTIVAL

The UN Kosovo Team continued to build on its long-standing partnership with the DokuFest - a world-class documentary film festival held every summer in Prizren - to promote the SDGs. This year's theme "Future My Love" was perfectly suited to Agenda 2030. The UNKT created a SDGs booth to allow participants at the festival to create a video recording of the future they want. It also helped shed light upon the boundless talent of young women filmmakers in Kosovo. UN Women, together with UN Kosovo Team gathered up to support the festival's optimistic theme to further promote the goals of the HeForShe solidarity movement. Activities included a panel discussion named "The Future is Equal" on the topic of power relations between women and men in Kosovo, and "Paint Your Future". A large canvas was built up and filled with different visions and ideas to celebrate an equal future for all through creative drawings.

UNV and the UN Development Coordinator's Office supported the 8th edition of Anibar, the annual Animation Festival in Peja/Peć, where children were taught about the SDGs and were encouraged to produce their own animations around their favourite goals.
